Travel boards

« tous les points où la malle nous déposera »:
a depository of comings and goings for scholars of nineteenth-century French studies and related fields

Colleagues are invited to indicate upcoming travel plans related to research in nineteenth-century French studies, to facilitate one or several of the following:

• Performing research in archives or libraries for other colleagues (typically not more than one hour per week)
• Giving research talks at institutions near travel destination
• Collaborating with colleagues

There are two travel boards: one for short-term visits and one for standing offers or ongoing availability.

Short-term visits

Colleagues interested in upcoming travel plans are invited to use our short-term plans form:

Form | Responses

Ongoing availability

Colleagues who wish to indicate an ongoing or standing offer should use our long-term plans form:

Form | Responses